Introductory remarks

Many educationists from abroad paying a visit to German institutions in the field of education or higher learning request information about the German education systems. To meet this need we have compiled the following comprehensive bibliography which includes all relevant titles known to us. It is the third version and may still be incomplete. Therefore, in addition to handing it out to visitors we are asking colleagues familiar with this particular literature for their comments and any further contributions. We should be very grateful if they themselves or the library with which they usually work could kindly inform us of any titles omitted from the present edition. In this way we hope to be able to improve any future revision of the bibliography. Already the Institute is indebted particularly to the Librarians of Institutes and Schools of Education (Gt. Britain), under whose auspices John S. Andrews edited the third edition of "Education in Germany, a union list of stock in Institute and School of Education Libraries" (Lancaster 1979), and who have kindly permitted us to supplement our collection of titles from this list.

International organizations and institutes like UNESCO, OECD, Council of Europe, the Institute of Education of the European Cultural Foundation and others use to publish international statistics and comparisons. We have included these publications only in cases where parts or chapters are devoted specifically to the description or analysis of the German educational systems.
